The Snail and the Whale

I wonder where the snail will go? Watch this BBC version of the story and try to remember all the different places she travels.

Over the next few sessions we are going to be making a travel journal (like a diary) of the places that the snail visits.

Today we would like you to write the first page after the snail's visit to Antarctica! Look at this image to get you thinking and then watch the video clip.

When you write in your journal you will be pretending you are the snail so you will be using the word I a lot. Try and use the senses to give you some ideas. E.g. What could the snail see, what could she hear etc. Try and use an adjective or two as well. Can you also join two ideas together in a sentence by using and?

Remember to use your neatest writing, leave finger spaces and start your sentences with a capital letter and end with a full stop.

Download the PDF and print out your book. If you can print page 2 and 3 double sided. If you don't have a printer you could make your own cover and pages out of some A4 paper. You will be starting the journal at home this week but finishing it in school next week!
